Foreword

The Prairie Pride is a book of memories, memories of our school, our teachers, and our classmates as they are now in 1954, and sometimes as they were in the past. It was edited by editor Darwin Ferry, Co---editor Ron Pfohl, and photographer John Gruber under the advisership of Mr. Alfred Ness, with the help of numerous unsung heroes of the Annual Staff. Morrison Studies at Milwaukee furnished pictures and Litho Productions at Madison, printed the book. Within its padded covers you will find pictures of all the 311 students in Prairie Righ School.

The town of Prairie du Sac borders the scenic Wisconsin River, directly below the Wisconsin Power and Light Company's Dam. The school is located in a quiet residential section of town, near beautiful Marion Park. It's an impressive red brick structure, shaped like an 'L'. Across from the main entrance is the swimming pool, operated during the summer by the school district.

Prairie High has been our home for four years. Here we worked and played, shaping our lives and ideals for the world of tomorrow.

Class Adviser

Walter Doll

The seniors wish to express their gratefulness and appreciation to you Mr. Doll, for your fine guidance and leadership during their last year at Prairie High.

History

bers of the Class of 1954 started kindergarten under the guidance of Miss Doris Lundquist. These five year olds were Bonita Hamilton, Kahn Peterson, Duane Soelle, Art Baars, Darwin Ferry, John Gruber, Donald Hutter, James Holway, Frances Mueller, Jane and Jean Jessie, Shirley Junge, Pat
Mockler, and Joan Mowitz. Pay Ann Katchinska came all the way from Texas to join them in the middle of the year.

World War II brought changes in the community. Bedger Ordinance Works opened and many of its workers were housed at a Trailer Camp on the edge of town. Seventy one pupils enrolled in the 1942 first grade, with Miss Helen Capper as teacher. George Walker, Phil Cole and Merlin Luher joined the class.

Averyone passed into second grade.

as second grade teacher. Karla Krueger was a newcomer.

Mrs. Pearl Meng taught the class its first arithmetic during third grade. Toby Melster was a new pupil.

in fourth grade with Donald Schiffman and Gustave Quade added to the roll. Miss Norra Sather, beloved by two generations of Prairie students, helped the class pass from fourth to fifth grade.

Miss Vers Adams instructed fifth grade. Gus Quade left Prairie this year but returned for sixth grade.

The class members felt as big as little children can when they moved from the North Grade School down to the High School, where Miss Laura Schoephoerster took charge as sixth grade teacher.

All trudged into the seventh grade where Mr. Paul McGill was their adviser A few had a taste of being Safety Patrolmen". The Jessie twins left the class to return as juniors in high school.

Under the direction of Mrs. Clara Kuhnau with her legendary "steel ruler", they completed eighth grade, proud in 1950, to be the first eighth grade graduater of the New Grade School.

The Eckstein twins, Eileen and Irene, joined the last year in the grades.

Even though mere freshmen, the class was happy to be in high school. Students from surrounding areas enlarged and enriched the class. After Initiation Day, they felt they really belonged in high school and began looking forward to giving the sophomores a return party in the spring. Mr.Alfred Ness was class adviser and Marion Lohr class president.

In the fall of 1951, returning as sophomores, they knew they were older and wiser. New freshmen were properly initiated. The class was under the advisership of Mr. Warren Perry. . Br. in Ferry was sophomore class president.

Shining new class rings appeared after school opened in the fall of 1952. Thoughts soon turned to the Junior From. Named "Stairway to the Stars", it was held May 1. Class president Phil Cole as king chose Jane Kohlman his queen. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Perry served as advisers.

The senior year, with all its activities, came. King John Boehmer and Queen Shirley Junge ruled over Homecoming Festivities. The class was under the guidance of Mr. Walter Doll, Darwin Ferry again being class president. "I Remember Mama", under the direction of Mr. Ness, was presented as the class play. Harold Meeteer, slected Senior Ball King, named Pat Mockler as his queen for the "Arabian Nights", February 20. Class Night, Baccalaureate Services, Class Trip and Commencement Exercises brought the Class of '54 to the end of its days at Frairie High.

Prophecy

This is station V-PDS-TSV-C televising to you from the tenth annual reunion of the Prairie High class of 1954. We have arrived in time to see the President of the United States, Darwin Ferry, dedicat-ing the new state capitol which has been moved to Prairie du Sac. Recording the event on film is John Gruber, President of the National Press Photographer's Association. Just arriving from Washington D.C. on Twenty-Year Man, Gus Quade's Jet Stars ship, designed by Bill Evan. are Alan Albers, Secretary of Agricu.ture, Leon Procknow, Secretary of the Treasury (he always did have the money), and John Ring the distinguished but silent Senator from Wisconsin. They salent Senator from Wisconsin. The/ explained they were late to all they stored off in lings to visit Variation "Bubbles" Lohr, who is unable to attend the reunion because running the night club, the "Greasy Spoon", takes all in time. On our right, we see Donna Accola, famed gossip columnist, interviewing George Walker, home from making his latest movie, (in 3-D Cinemascope, costarring with Marilyn Monshmoe), "Here I Am, You Lucky Women." Don Hutter and Gerald Campbell just sold their formula for skinning angle-worms, to that for skinning angle-worms, to that business tycoon from Merrimac Morros. Now a word from our sponsor, "Scelle Mattresses" created by Duane Sre e adde withreted by official demonstrator, Kahn Peterson. Diane Yanke, batter known as Florence Nightie it sale, the II, claimed they make the most comfortable sickbeds, and Dr. Arthur Baars, the mortician's friend, agrees.

Back to our little gathering. We received word from Stockholm, Sweden, that John Boehmer has become the only athlets to excel Jim Thorpe's Olympic record. Ocops! I just tripped over our cord, Here comes Jim Ryan world-renown weight-lifter to help me up. With him is Mike Rolstad, president of the Green Bay Charry Corporation, which has just perfected a strawberry-flavored cherry for people who don't like cherries. We turn our camera to the street where a brass band, directed by Justin Kniemeyer, is heralding the arrival of Phil Cole, coach of the University of Wisconsin football team, who has just won their fifth biannual Rose-Bowl game. With him is Gene Counterwood team manager. Gustavson, team manager. Karla Krueger e joys traveling also. Ste's row tarried and has topped the Canadian record with sextuplets. From this view we see the beautiful tenth anniversary cake, baked and decorated by the second Betty Crocker, Shirley Junge, who did so well at Stout. Shirley followed the recipe created by Gladys Petzke of the Betty Grocker Kitchen Testing Staff in Chicago. Well, if Doris Mallon didn't arrive..... My, here she is and doesn't she have a beautiful tan? I always said Africa was a warm place. Doris is a missionary for her local church at Leland.

Over-head we see a jet-plane doing crazy dips. We're told it's Jane Kohlman, rather "Miss Smile in the Jet." She has attained top honors in both fields, Smiling and Jet Piloting. Jane tells us that Bonnie Hamilton has risen to the top and stayed there. She was recently voted "The Girl We'd Most Like to Have for Dinner" by the African Society of Cannabals, For obvious reasons, she declined the award.

The director has just informed us to swing our camera over to Studio A, where Marlene Kindschi is exhibiting her International Champion Cocker Spanial. She's re eiving the golden cup now. The cup is pre eited to are by Jean and Jane Jessie wo are a tablished an institution for the handicapped and are teaching the inmates how to avoid hydrophobia.

Betty Zech has her own TV program, ering the teenagers, called "How to e Removed from Class." It's very educational and a real comedy.

Kere's Barbara Dobrats who is now tickling the ivories although she never had much musical ability. Her boss finds her a very good dental assistant.

Now for a word from our sponsor, "Annie Campbell's Clinging Shampoo." It doesn't fosm; it doesn't remove dandruff; it just sits and clings. Don McDonald, recently voted one of the ten best dressed men in America, says it does wonders.

Here comes bashful Ellen Matoushek, boots, ten-gallon hat and all, who just returned from Texas, She's sporting a diamond engagement kerchief clasp from her handsome Texan, who considered it practical since they'll be riding the range together. Frances Muns is changing her youngest child's diaper. She is in a date after being voted Wisconsin's most efficient housewife. Here comes Barbara Feets, high school secretary, with a message for us from Fran Mueller. Fran wants to know if Eddie, Jr. the oldest of her nine children is around. Here he comes with the county sheriff, Harlyn Braun, who found him on the "Eckstein's Etheral Estery" restaurant. run by Eileen and Irene Eckstein. He was trying to meet "Lucky" Nottlestad, one of their best customers, who struck oil in Oklahoma and is giving away money.

Harold "Happy" Meeteer is selling tickets to the game which his team, Meeteer's Meteorites," will play tonig t in the new Prairie recreation center. Jerry Jonas, architect who designed this twelve story two block long structure, declares it has done wonders for the youth of Prairie du Sac. Jean Keitel, county truent officer agrees.

We now turn our camera onto the street. Looking upward we see some sky paintings (arew process developed by Ji. Folway) of Phyllis Schutte and Joan Mowits. It was an advertisement for "eau de Paree" cologne. The painting was done by Merlin Luher, Jim's right-hand man. We are now on Melster Street, in the center of the business district, named after leorge "Toby" Melster, whose benevolence has made Harolyn Zick's pride and joy, the public library, possible. Harolyn has been able to combine marriage and the library successfully. We stop at

"Evie's Cafe" where we have a cup of caffein. Joward Sprecer decided too any cherists were recoving the caffein from reffee, so e removed the offee from the affein. e was inspired by his labora-tory technician. Pay Ann Katchinska. Pat Nockler is coming across the street carrying something. My, but this is a surprise! She's loaded down with at least fifteen books and has just in it md us so is the first we am professor of Lovelogy at Harvard College, I'll bet the students don't get much out of her classes, as you all remember, Patt

You can't help but stop and gase in wonderment at the beautiful window display in the Fashion Store of Prairie o ed and operated by tatrians well. Se always was try, g out rew ty,es wille in Prairie | iph. | wir.ere just told us that Partere . Teper 19 a regular customer as sto still taxes in all te darres at te I a.a e, and can not be seen in the sale dress two o. ...dit a nice and .etty Nick, are co-operators of the fabulous "i-Style" beauty salon. Some people certainly have done well in the local community. There we a to be no tile to relax as Marvin Melville, lo al telegrap measenger, just rushed up with a telegram from Jos Matoushek who is in London, giveing the class of 1954 his best regards. He wishes he could be here. He's right in the middle of an important experiment trying to hatch chickens with out breaking the egg shells. Joe always was trying to figure out something impossible.

There goes Don Schiffman, Manager of the Ford Corporation whiszing by in the 1965 model, He says he especially likes the roomy interior. We suppose he's headed for the city limits where Pat Pullen has established a horse ranch. She specialises in albinos and has the largest ranch in the West and Midwest. It is Preirie's only riding academy, although several others have tried but failed because of the horses' superior training.

Our time has slapsed now and your reporters, Joan Foljahn and Audrey Groth must return with their husbands to Paradise Island in the racific, where they operate a salvage yard and sell old battleship parts to the natives.

This is station W-PDS-TSV-C (3-dimensional-color-vision) signing off.

Acknowledgement

We hope you like our sinual. Je've atte pted to ske it an interesting pictorial account of our act ool I fe. Imphasis this year has been complete picture coverage of students in school.

It is impossible to give credit to every one who has helped in the production of the 154 Prairie Pride. There is always a group of parie wo rise to the chail to drry the project through by their untiring and completely unselfish efforts.

Merlie gets the tip again

Although we are grieving, We bequest in leaving The right of next year's Senior Class Down the halls with seniority to pass.

Donna Accola with her pretty dark hair Finds it very easy to wear That dangerous color, bright red, Which she leaves to Monard Mittlesteadt.

Evelyn Accola is tall and sweet, She smiles at everyone she meets. This quality she leaves to Prairie High For someone to use by and by.

Alan Albers, Mr. Shields' pride and joy We hear is going to be a farming boy; So to you, Darrel Thurrow, he is going to will A tractor and plow so you, too the soil may till.

Art Baars with his arrow and bow All about love he does know, Patching up romances is his skill To Doug Jones this does he will.

John Boehmer, the poll vaulting lad, Knows that Terry Mulhern will sure be glad He'll no longer need his thumb To get to her fast just take a run.

Harlyn Braun at playing cards is a whis. Ir fact, on Carl's bus, he's the best there is. This talent he bestows upon David Litscher So that you may become even richer.

Annie Campbell worked hard in school; She followed every single rule. This being semething seldom done She cannot leave it to anyone.

Gerald Campbell, who is no clown. Is trying hard to keep the fushia coloring down. To King Harshall he wills the task, Knowing on him it won't rise so fast.

Phil Code is a high scorer that's true do, Paul Boehmer, he wills to you The art of putting the basketball in Without bouncing it off the rim.

S - ma to wear them with style and grace.
She leaves to Richard Weinke not one, but two,
And hopes they are becoming to you.

Barbara Dobratz likes to look
Through the library, but not at the books.
She wills Adela Bruckert this wandering way
For her to use some rainy day.

Eilean Eckstein, who is far from quiet, Leaves her ability to start a riot To a girl who hardly says "boo". Caroline Willey, she leaves this to you.

Irene Eckstein, the gum chewing lass; Her favorite place being Bookkeeping class, Wills Virginia Jessick an empty pack. You can keep it, she doesn't want it back.

Bill Evans, a mechanic is he. He can fix it, yes-sir-ree. In fixing things he has no rules So, to DuWayne Block he leaves his tools. Darwin Ferry, an all out man, Willsto brother James, an enthusiastic fan, Some energy that is sure to last So he can carry on his task.

As "Mama" in our Senior Class play Joan Foljahn has a leading lady way. To anyone who has the skill This, Joan will gladly will.

Skip Strmiska's eyes begin to close In history; soon she starts to doze. Audrey Groth leaves her way Of staying awake throughout the day.

John Gruber with a camera is fast He makes it look like such an easy task. This talent John does bequeath To the Juniors' one and only Keith.

Gene Gustavson wills that certain collection; Knowing Lee Pilger will fill it to perfection. This hobby being well under way Leaves nothing further for us to say.

Bonita Hamilton wills with pride Her sunny smile and mobile r. . . To Dolly Klaetsch who needs to same To win her way to fortune and fame.

Jim Holway with his scooter Really knows how to shoot her. To Lester Procknow, the motorcycle man, Jim leaves his air cooler fan.

Bonald Hutter isn't shy
Especially when he's near Lodi.
To Lois Eckstein, a Junior gay,
He wills the roads out that way.

Jane and Jean Jessie leave their quiet way to Ron and Don Lang, and say Don't you know, "crime doesn't pay."

Jerry Jonas, the driver of the souped-up hot rod,
Piles the kids in like peas in a pod.
I'm sure Carl Tammi will be pleased to be seen
Being the recipient of this taxi and limousine.

ome Iconomics is Shirley Junge's line; in that field she does extra fine. She wills to Peggy l'enthorn her ability here.
Ind hopes she will use it next year.

arlene Lindschi, in the kitchen is handy With her recipe file she does dandy. She leaves this freshly baked wafer To that bashful girl Laurene Schaefer.

Jean keit-1 plans on being a farmer's wife So she leaves her luck to Junice Pieper Who may like that life.

Justin Eneineyer can really dru; ie makes it look like a lot of fun To Terry . ulcahy he leaves his rhythu. le decided not to take it with him.

Jane Kohlman, our D.A.T. winner, In her eyes wears a glirmer. Lary Anderson, she leaves this award to you, Hoping you will be worthy of it, too.

Don McDonald and Eugene Morrow Leave their bus rides of temorrow To and from the Merrimac City. Now don't you think that was witty Harold Mesteer, the ladies'friend, Leaves an unused black book for Tom Smith to mend.

George Helster leaves his nickname "Toby" with you, And if you like that name George you can have that too.

Marvin Milleville, the Black Hawk speeddemon at the wheel, tround the corners he likes to peel. John Anderson, he leaves to you his truck If you get it started, don't get stuck.

Frances Mueller has considered she'd like To will Moose Accola for that cold, cold night Her electric blanket to keep him warm In her ninety year heap, all battered and worn.

Frances Huns likes to square dance; Around the floor she does prace. To anyone interested in the same She wills some energy for t. e ga e.

Hadge LaDun's mischievious ways
Keeps everyone in a daze.
Arvin Nottlestad wills his nickname
"Lucky" and hopes everything will be just ducky.

Berbara Peets, newspaper woman of '54, Wills Carol Kruse the active chore Of getting the n ws in on time In order to best the Wednesday deadline.

Kahn Peterson's mountache makes him look bold and brave; So he wills it to Bernie Maroney who still doesn't shave.

Gladys Petske liked to catch Duane Soelle's cyn; In Bookkeeping class she would try and try. Now that she has liven up. Alice Pierce, she is letting you try your luck.

A girl in our class named Darlene Pieper At night wasn't much of a sleeper, She leaves to Ron Pfohl her mighty roller skating

So the next day at dozing he will get a nigh rating.

With Gene Olson, Karla Krueger will share A lock of her naturally curly hair. All the girls will gather round When curlyheaded Gene comes to town.

Her hilarious laugh, Marion Lohr does will To Wilmer Sprecher who sits so still; Throughout the night, throughout the day is may as well with laugh be gay.

Merlin Luher, the lanky lad, Says being tall isn't so bad! With Shirley Russell he is willing to share

Part of the height and crew-cut hair.

Here is a girl that is rather keen

She has a dual personality, her name is Foris Jean Carol Post, she is leaving to you the courage to try To make the taachers believe you are shy. Wills this characteristic to Clayton Panser, the talkative guy.

Joe Matoushek always studied his lesson; Fe never had to do any guessing. Though Marlene Kuhnau also studies hard He leaves this "A" to use if you're caught off guard.

Leaving wogen alone is Leon Procknow's aim He hopes Lonte Cook will do the same. He wills his hampshire hogs, as they are something to be trusted, They'al bring you lots of money, you'll never be "busted."

Patsy Pullen has the habit
Of raising small angora rabbits.
To Leon Petsie she leaves this skill
And says there's money in the racket still.

Gus Quade, with teachers has a certain touch; And realises Dan Googins needs it much. To him he wills his hypnotic pill. Hoping it will cure him of all his ills.

John Ring leaves his Bookkeeping workbook to anyone Who thinks they'll need it to get theirs done. "Like" Rolstad is ready with a wise remark He leaves to Ann Mass this likeable spark.

Jim Ryan's quite the guy le isn't bashful, he isn't shy. Le wills to Earllyn Purdy his way so keen While in his eyes we soo a familiar gloem.

Oon Shiffman has a favorite parking spot; He just about willed it, but he forgot that Marlene is a Junior small So he isn't willing it after all.

Duane Soelle, with style and grace, Wills the innocent look upon his face toShirley Lallon who needs it work To hide her devilish thoughts, and.

Howard Sprecher is rather sly.
Still he is a typical guy.
Fe wills Lyle Klienert this one thing.
Bis saxophone, cause he doesn't sing.

George Walker is our handsome lad;
And Junior boys, don't feel bad
That he is keeping his good looks,
Cause he needs them for the ladies in his books.
Priscilla Weber has some pleasant ways;

She finds with teachers it really pays.

d kendahl she wills these

"on't try to agravate them-but try to please."

a radice which with er roving even as a an it of lever a vial rule. e arma ell, this advice she is leaving love them and leave them, there'll be no greiving.

Betty Zech liked to take noon hour walks With her friends, and they have little talks.

She wills to Wadena Lipke a bike When she goes for that certain hike.

Earolyn Zick is a brain in history
She studies so there's no real mystery.
She's willing her so called studious ways
To Lois Jokstein who sits in a dase.

Diane, Pat and Fay, who are full of wit, Leave this will and hope everything will fit; That each member of the class of '54 alive Gave generously to the class of fifty-five.
